Week at a glance

Week of 1/8/2019

*We are off and running. Kids are back and school is picking up right where we left off. It is good to see everybody energized and ready to go after the holiday.

*All students are in during plus period for the first 2 and a half weeks and are working with teachers on course selections, binder checks, and other team building activities.

*Course selection process will kick off next week with classroom presentations. Course selection sheets will be handed out and then returned to classroom teachers. Master scheduling gets built from there.

*There will be a Family community meeting on Tuesday of next week. The topic will be how to pay for college. There will be a panel of alumni who will be there to talk to parents and give their perspective on the college going (paying) process.

*We are continuing the partnership with WCC to offer dual enrollment at W J/S HS. We are continuing to build the list of courses offered at our site. Next year we are looking to add Hist 17B, Math 20, Educ 15, and maybe Bio 1A.

*ASSETs programming will resume on Tuesday January 15. There was a short break due to the vacation. We will have cooking, science fair, and tutoring as the first programs in addition to the college courses.

*PBIS Training kick off was on January 7. The first day the PBIS site teams will start training will be next week on January 15. We have a lot of the pieces in place for PBIS. We are looking to see what is next.

*First semester final grades are in and we had a huge number of students make one of the honor rolls. 190 students total are on the honor roll. The academic awards night will be on January 23 at 6:30 in the gym.

*Also for those students who may have struggled in the first semester, the intervention programs are starting as well. We will have students working on credit and academic recovery on Saturdays starting on January 26.
